AMERICANSEfforts of American Embassy Was Directed

IN ST. PETERSBURG TODAY

The Wallings Will Probably Be Let Go on Condition That They Leave Russia, But It May Be Delayed a Few Days.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—The machinery of the American embassy was set in motion this morning to secure the release of William Walling, his wife and sister-in-law, who were arrested last night for association with Finnish Socialists. An attaché of the embassy visited the prefecture of police and the headquarters of the secret police in an effort to learn the nature of the charges against the Americans and whether they were comfortably treated. The Wallings will probably be released on condition of leaving Russia, but the examination of books and other documents seized with them may delay the release for a few days.

AMERICANS ARRESTED IN ST. PETERSBURG

Had Been Associated Closely With Firms of the Progressive Party—Had Been Watched Some Time.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—William English Walling of Indianapolis, Ind., his wife and his sister-in-law, Miss Rose Strinsky, were arrested in this city last night by a force of gendarmes because of their association with several members of the Finnish progressive party, and taken to the gendarmarie headquarters.

Kellogg Durand, another American and a friend of Mr. Walling, who has been in St. Petersburg gathering material for a series of lectures, was also taken into custody but later was released. No evidence upon which to hold Mr. Durand was found.

Mr. Walling is a socialist. He is a grandson of the late Wm. H. English, who was vice-presidential candidate in 1880, when General Hancock ran for the American presidency. For several years past he has taken an active interest in the Russian struggle, and this is the third time he has visited Russia. The firms with whom the Wallings have been associating were also arrested. In this party there are three men and one woman. The woman is the wife of Prof. Malmberg of Helsingfors university. The firms have been in St. Petersburg for several days. They have been under close police observation all the time. Saturday and Sunday the firms, Mr. and Mrs. Walling and Miss Strinsky dined together and last night the entire party was taken into custody.

LITTLE INTEREST IN PROCEEDINGS

Alleged Murderer of His Niece Sits in Court With His Eyes Shut Most of The Time.

Brattleboro, Oct. 21.—William Fairbanks, who is charged with the murder of his niece, Mary Grout, is still without a juryman to try him. Three days have been used up in the attempt to find 12 men to judge the merits of the case, but the searching cross-fire of State's Attorney R. C. Bacon is so critical that over 50 have stepped down from the jury box disqualified. It is safe to say that none will be accepted by the state's attorney, who cannot properly analyze and pass upon the evidence as it is presented. If Fairbanks is sent to the gallows, his sentence will be pronounced by 12 of the most representative men in Windham county.

Eleven men now sit in the jury box who say that they have no conscientious scruples against capital punishment. The remaining one will be selected from a new lot chosen by Deputy Sheriff J. W. Meloney, who was ordered by the court Saturday night to procure not less than 15 talesmen.

Each day witnesses for the state have been ready to go on the stand but have been told to wait until "not wanted till tomorrow." Of the number now excused from jury duty, only three have been peremptorily challenged by the state and three by the defense.

Fairbanks continues to sit with eyes closed most of the time. He manifests apparently little interest in his fate. He walks with steady step and from the carriage, paying little heed to what is going on about him. He looks well, shows little signs of his late illness and carries the two bullets in his left lung with no apparent discomfort.

Some have believed that his indifference is only a method chosen to support the main issue of his defense in attempting to show that he is feeble minded, while others, who have carefully watched the man, are confident that he cannot appreciate the crime with which he is charged.

Dr. J. W. Upton, an alienist, who is connected with the state institution at Waterbury, has had Fairbanks under observation since Friday.

SUCCEEDS HEINZE AS BANK PRESIDENT

Seth H. Milliken Was Yesterday Elected by Directors of The Mercantile National Bank of New York.

New York, Oct. 21.—At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Mercantile National Bank Saturday afternoon, Seth H. Milliken was elected president of the bank to succeed F. Augustus Heinze, resigned. At the same time William Skinner and Gerish H. Milliken were elected additional vice-presidents. Gerish H. Milliken being added to the board of directors.

The clearing house committee met with the directors of the bank and the two boards were in session about four hours.

Later Wm. Sherer, manager of the Clearing House association, on behalf of the association made the following statement:

"A committee of the clearing house has examined the several banks of the association that have been under criticism and find them solvent. The clearing house committee has decided to render such assistance to meet their deposits as the committee may think necessary.

Neither the members of the board of the Mercantile National nor the clearing house committee would add to these announcements. But the statement of Mr. Sherer is taken to mean that the clearing house committee is entirely satisfied with the reorganization of the Mercantile national and will see that that bank is enabled to meet any crisis that the published stories about its condition, following the collapse of the Heinze corner in United Copper, may force it to face.

BLACKMAILERS ARRESTED.

New York Men Wanted Money or Would Print Stories.

New York, Oct. 21.—Hugo C. Voecks and Frank O. Tornberg were arrested Saturday night at the Astor theater, on complaint of Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, charged with blackmailing.

The arrest followed the publication of a number of stories in which an unnamed "prominent comedian," who is described as "the star of a successful Broadway production" was accused of gross misconduct.

It is said that Voecks had recently written a number of threatening letters to Hitchcock demanding money, and he finally called at the theater Friday night and demanded $1,000 for the suppression of certain stories which were distributed to the press and which Voecks threatened to have printed unless he received the money.

He was asked to call again Saturday afternoon and was given a ring as security for the money demanded. Saturday afternoon he called again and was offered a $1,000 bill, but declined it, saying that he must now have $2,500 in small bills. Detectives were hidden in the room at the time.

Saturday night the man called again and accepted $1,000 in bills and a promise to pay $1,500 more when the ring was returned. The detectives who had been in hiding then appeared and placed Voecks under arrest. He said that Tornberg, who says he is a bank clerk, was outside with the ring. Tornberg was arrested and the ring was found in his possession. Both men were locked up at police headquarters.

THE CAVALCADE RETURNS

Party Got Three Bears and President Was So Overjoyed When He Got His That He Embraced Each One of the Hunters.

Tallahassee, La., Oct. 21.—The president and party made an early start from Stamboul today, and he will make the first speech of his return trip before crossing the Mississippi to Vicksburg.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 21.—"We got three bears, six deer, one wild turkey, 12 squirrels, one duck, one opossum and one wild cat. We ate them all except the wild cat, and those were times when we almost felt as if we could eat it."

This was President Roosevelt's summary of his hunt on Bayou Tenasse and Bear Lake. He arrived at three o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of Leo Shields, where he will be the guest until he departs for Vicksburg today.

The president came in at fall gallop, accompanied by a dozen hunting companions, all mounted and attired in hunting garb, and the cavalcade presented a tableau as picturesque as it was animated.

The president is rather more bronzed than when he entered the wilderness 15 days ago, and his clothes bear evidence of contact with cane and other brush. He was never in better spirits in his life.

"I've got three bears," he added, "all that I saw and I think I'm a pretty good record. I am perfectly satisfied."

"You might add," interjected one of the Metcalf brothers, who have been the president's principal guides throughout the hunt, "that we hunted a country of large extent, which there were but five bears all told."

"Was the 'possum good?" the president was asked.

"Absolutely the best dish we had, except the bear liver," he responded with relish.

The president stood on the lawn in front of Mr. Shields' house, the center of a group containing Mr. Shields and a number of guests. In the distance were gathered the negro hunters, cooks, teamsters and messengers, while the horses stood in the yard, and the dogs lay around "baking their noses" in the sun.

The result of long classes and contact with wild dogs, wild cats and other wild things.

The president declared that his health had been excellent and his appetite good. Except a day or two lost on account of rain he was in the saddle every day from dawn to dusk. He declared that he never in his life had finer sport.

The arrival of the party showed that a third bear was killed on Friday by one of the Osborn brothers, while it was in a fierce fight with the dogs.

The bear slain by the president was killed on Thursday and its death was witnessed by one of the McKenlies and Alex. Enolds. They say that the president's bearing was extremely sportsmanlike. The animal had been chased by the dogs for three hours, with the president in pursuit all the time. When at last they came within hearing distance the president dismounted, threw off his coat and dashed into the cane brake, going to within 20 paces of the beast.

The dogs were coming up rapidly, with the president's favorite, "Rowdy" in the lead. The bear had stopped to fight the dogs when the president fired a fatal bullet into the animal's flanks. The little life left in it, the bear turned on the dogs. The president then lodged a second bullet between the bear's shoulders, breaking its neck.

Other members of the party soon came up, and the president was so joyous over his success that he embraced each of his companions. Enolds said: "Mr. President, you are no tenderfoot," and the president responded by giving him a 250 note.

RIPPED UP A BRIDGE.

Central Vermont Wreck Train Makes Work for Itself.

Waterbury, Oct. 21.—While the wrecking train was being hurried from St. Albans to Hartford, a bridge across Stove street in this village was nearly wrecked by the large crane on the cars. The end of the crane projected over the car so that it rapped through the bridge, which was a wooden structure, taking off boards and timbers. The Central Vermont had intended to replace it with a steel structure. This may hasten that action.

A FINE EXHIBIT
BY BARRE PUPILS

In Industrial Work as Shown at the State Teachers' Convention in Burlington Last Week—An Appreciative Article.

The exhibits of industrial work by pupils in the Barre public schools attracted a great deal of attention at the State Teachers' association convention in Burlington last week, and today's Burlington Free Press has the following appreciative words of the work and also of the supervisor, Mr. Badger:

"One of the most interesting as well as one of the most admired exhibits at the teachers' convention was that of the industrial work done by the pupils of the Barre public schools. The exhibit for the most part represented the results of work done outside of school hours and therefore the practical test of the value of art instruction as given in the Barre schools. It included some remarkable showings, both from the practical and the aesthetic sides, in Venetian iron, basketry, the work, tooled brass, wood carving, standing design applied to furniture and the like.
